Security Incident Response Scanner

Cask partnered with an insurance company to implement a customized security incident response scanner that prevents vulnerabilities, streamlines their security and properly reports risk back to their user community. The goal was to give them a single system of record that mitigated risk and allowed them to make decisions based on empirical data. This scanner gave the insurance company a secure process and accurate reporting, giving them significant ROI from their investment and set them up for long term success.

Results

Mitigated risks by transforming from multiple systems to a single system of record.

Delivers results faster with vulnerability management by removing the middle man and manual spreadsheets.
